LIEUTENANT COMMANDER G. W. DE LONG.

[George W. De Long was born in New York in 1844. He was appointed acting midshipman in 1861, and graduated in 1863. He was promoted through the various grades in the following order: Ensign, December 1, 1866; Master, March 12, 1867; Lieutenant, June 24, 1868; Prentice to his departure on board the Jeannette, Lieutenant Le Long had been engaged with other arctic expeditions.

In the Parisian naval exhibition of 1873 he represented the United States steamer Jeannette.

He made on that occasion a perilous trip in company with a picked crew, sailing northward from New York, and reaching the port of the Polaris.

He joined the Jeannette at Havre, France, and commanded her on her voyage from there to San Francisco, whence he sailed for the arctic regions, and again for the Polaris.

He was promoted to captain in 1875, and his wife, Mrs. De Long, is the daughter of Captain James A. Watson, of New York, well known in the mercantile service.

De Long's last speech (which was six feet in height) was of an athletic frame.]

The above portrait is engraved from a photograph presented to Mr. Richard K. Fox, of the Foreign Office, by the wife of Captain G. W. De Long, before his departure for Havre to join the ill-fated Jeannette.

Neal's Friend.
Lexington Press.

A Press reporter met Alf. W. Burnett, the detective who has figured so largely in the Ashland tragedy, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, Wednesday. Mr. Burnett is still engaged in the investigation, but he believes that Neal, Craft and Ellis committed the crime. He says that Neal's acquittal is certain and only a matter of form, and that he has the evidence which he says will bring in the guilty parties. The reporter asked the nature of the evidence, but Mr. Burnett replied: "I would not tell my mother, who, I know, is praying for my success, that I have it." The facts as they have been detailed time and again, when he gave the snap away, by saying he believed the negro whom he arrested some time ago, were the guilty ones, and implicated the negroes who disappeared at their examining trial. Mr. Burnett says he will be vindicated, and that the Ashland people will see that they have hung two innocent men.

One reason why so many young mothers do not look so tidy and attractive as it is the boudoir duty of all the women to look is that they do not accept the modish fashions. They are compelled to then adapt themselves to it. For instance, it is impossible to care for a baby as it should be cared for, and yet to wear as good a dress as you would if you were going to a social gathering or a fancy work. The usual dress when engaged in this exception should be of some material that will bear up over pressure, and a little stretch. A cotton sateen should be kept near at hand. The dress should be an unslung supply, of different sizes and degrees. Do not fail to have at least two of the same length as yourself, and of different widths. A white muslin with a striped pattern, with secret machine embroidery, is actually becoming to most women, and will save the cost many times over by preserving the dress. The Clothier should be consulted, and then enjoy dressing your baby. All other pleasure you may hope to have repeated, but the joy of being the mother of a baby is one which may be yours but not for so short a time that it will seem almost dream-like to a few years.

Mrs. Mackay's Jewelry.

The jewelry of Mrs. John W. Mackay has been amply described in Paris journals. Many of the articles are unique and the ornaments in general are said to be characterized as much by the artistic beauty of their workmanship as by the splendor of the gems worn. They are composed of diamonds, rubies, emeralds, sapphires which was exhibited at the Parisian Universal Exhibition of 1878. It is valued at $300,000 and comprises diamond bracelets, rings, ear-rings and necklaces, with a large diamond set in a locket and can be worn as the necklace including the necklace, bracelets and diamonds. The necklace has five rows, the pearls are lowered to the bottom of the row of the largest diamonds, and the top in the uppermost being larger than a large pea. Each pearl is perfect in color and shape, the strings having been composed of wire of greatest strength. The clasp is a turquoisie with white diamonds. A set of turquoises is unique so large and fine in color are the gems. They are said to surpass the parure of the same stones belonging to the Queen of Spain.

For the last year Harry Hill is a long garment of small fern leaves in diamonds, studded with diamond dew drops. One bracelet is a diamond strand that encircles the wrist. The other is a chain which is formed of a single row of very large diamonds, 300 in number. These treasures are not kept in the house of Mrs. Mackay, but in a bank. They are considered to be a small fortune, and were given for the purpose of developing him as a Presidential candidate to kill off Joe McDonald. This story has been so widely circulated that it is difficult to believe it, not thinking that it was a mere joke gotten up by the Illinois editor's expense. Lamb is one of the youngest members of the House and is everything that his name would imply.

WHAT are eggs? the buyer asked: The grocer smiled and turned his head, "Aha! you know what eggs are, I said. Why eggs are eggs, he said. The buyer jumped a dozen feet, Cracked his heels and said the Dickens! I'm truly glad of that, because, The last got were chickens.

THE town of Chester has very wisely restrained stock of all kinds from running at large in the streets while the fences of the residences are down. Maysville ought to do the same thing.

A HOWLING mob took possession of the relief depot at Portsmouth on Saturday. The disgraceful scene led to the promulgation of an order that no more able-bodied men would hereafter be aided.

There are few such big hearted men in the composition of any community as Col. Andrews. Long may he live and prosper.

DEVILISH DEED.

Mollie Taylor's Throat Cut From Ear to Ear by Charles Green, a Jealous Lover.

Between nine and ten o'clock Sunday night a tragedy that came very near being a fatal one was enacted in Johnson's Alley, the principals being Mollie Taylor, a colored girl about twenty years of age, and Charles Green, a jealous lover. The two had been on terms of intimacy for some time past, but of late the girl had seemed to prefer the company of other men and thus aroused the jealousy of Green. On Sunday night he called to see her and, it is said, she refused to have anything to do with him. He was furiously enraged and dragging the woman into the alley, cut her throat from ear to ear, and according to her statement, threw her over the fence with the intention that her body should go into a sewer near by. The wound was a very gashly one but fortunately did not sever the jugular vein or any artery that would cause death. It was dressed by Dr. A. G. Browning, who thinks the girl will recover. The officers pursued Green promptly, but up to this time he has managed to elude them and is still at large. He is supposed to have left the city as soon as the deed was done.

MR. GEORGE C. GOOGAN sold, on Saturday, the following property belonging to Mr. C. P. Shockley:

The Wife of an Ambasador recently put the following question to the daughter of one of our marchionates at a Presidential levee: "My dear I was told before I visited America, that your countrywomen were not remarkable for fine teeth. I find it quite the contrary. Take your own for instances. Pray what dentifrice do you use?" "I have used Soz soap for years and prefer it to any other," was the response. Reader, follow her example!

Case Not Beyond Help.

D. M. H. HINDSLE, Kenawee, Ill., advises us of a remarkable cure of consumption. He says: "A neighbor's wife was attacked with violent lung diseases, and pronounced beyond help from quick consumption. As a last resort the family was persuaded to try Dr. Wm. H. Balsam for the lungs. To the astonishment of all, by the time she had used one-half dozen bottles, she was about the house doing her own work.

To the Trade.

The trade and public generally are informed that we have in stock a large supply of doors, sash, blinds and other manufactured work, together with all grades of lumber that were in no way injured by the flood, which we are prepared to furnish promptly and at reasonable prices.

Orders for sawed lumber solicited. Our friends who have left their accounts unsettled will favor us greatly by arranging the same as speedily as possible, as we are at present much in need of the money due us. Respectfully, E. L. HILL.

THE CONVENTION.

The Gallant Fight Made by St. Louis and Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The St. Louis people made a gallant struggle and have taken their defeat with a very bad grace. Some of the Chicago people have said that the opposition at Chicago was in the interest of Mr. McDonald; but there is no basis for the supposition. Nothing illustrates more clearly the rivalry of St. Louis and Chicago than the way the different statesmen submitted to W. C. Gandy, of Chicago, and by Colonel Prather, of St. Louis, agreeing to pay the full expenses and transportation of the delegates to the Convention. Gandy's proposal was to capture votes. Neither proposition was accepted. The claims of St. Louis were accepted by Senator Vest, in his usual statesmanlike way. Chicago was represented by Matville Fuller and Mayor Carter Harrison. Mr. Harrison dwelt largely upon the fact that Chicago was a more populous city than St. Louis, and that he had reason to fear the Westerners. His main argument was that the city which could produce such a man as he was the place of all others in which to select a President of the United States. He also, a member of the members, argued by analogy from Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis as suburbs of Chicago, and disgusted others by saying that he would see the need of the delegates to be kept in the Brewhouse over twenty-four hours in the event of their getting drunk. Melville Turner presented the best argument of the day, that it was that Chicago was the place of the Convention upon the system of rotation of all the other leading cities having been selected since the Convention of 1894 in Chicago. Representative Harlan, of Cincinnati, Representative Dashiell, present, attacked the attractions of Saratoga in a comprehensive little speech. Colonel Ward put in a word for Baltimore.

AFTER HALF A CENTURY.

The Monument to the Mother of Washington Still Standing.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The occurrence of the anniversary of the birth of Washington has drawn attention to the unfinished condition of the monument to the memory of Mary, the mother of Washington, at Fredericksburg, Va. The monument is located on an eminence near the former home of Mrs. Washington. The cornerstone was laid by President Jackson on the 7th of May, 1883, when he delivered an eloquent eulogium upon the character and many virtues of the noble woman whose shaft was designed to commence.

The monument was built up during the four succeeding years, but further operations were suspended by reason of the failing health of the New York merchant Mr. Burrows, the widow's sole heir, who enterprise had been prosecuted. Since that time the monument has suffered in its incomplete state by the havoc of war and the damage done by fire. A bill to complete this monument was introduced in the Forty-third Congress, and after personal examination by a special committee, was reported on favorably, but failed to receive action.

It is understood that Representative G. D. Wise, of Virginia, will shortly introduce a bill appropriating $20,000 for its completion. The Mayor of Fredericksburg, Mr. F. C. Fugh, and others have just visited this city, in the hope that the measure might be considered and passed, under the provisions of the rules of the 22d Congress, that when Congress adjourns over, this will not be practicable. It is believed, however, that Congress will favorably respond to the contemplated appeal at an early date.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

An Interesting Case in the Courts of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 25.—In the suit of Pierce against the School Trustees of the City of Burlington, the plaintiff's attorney sought a writ of habeas corpus to compel the admission of his children to the school for white children, which was the public school of Burlington. The trustees set up in defense that they had provided separate accommodations for colored children. The court decides that the set of the trustees was illegal. The fact that the children were colored is no reason for refusing them admission to the schools set aside for white children.

In the case of the heirs of Demarest against the Receiver of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, damages for the death of Mr. Damarest from injuries received in the Parker's Creek accident on the Little Branch Railroad in 1883, a Patterson jury has given a verdict of $30,000 against the Company. The amount is set aside as excessive, and a new trial awarded. The verdict against the same Company for $35,000 for the killing of Mr. Woodruff in the same accident was affirmed.

BREAKING LEVEES.

Fears of Great Damage Along the Lower Mississippi.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Feb. 25.—There is great danger of a crevasse at the lower part of the Arkansas River, also here. If it breaks the entire Texas Basin, bracing the lower portion of East Carroll, all of West Carroll, Tensas and Concordia Parishes will be immediately inundated, and incalculable damage done. The lake two miles below this city, on the Louisiana side, has given way and five feet of water has run into the Arkansas. The water is now rushing through the crevasses. Efforts are being made to have the war department at Washington order an unexpected battle in the interest of the United States engineers applied to the commanding general in the district. A large break has occurred in the lower part of the Delta Bradford levee, about five miles below this city. At last night the breach was fifty yards and increasing rapidly. The water was about six feet deep. It is thought that the levee was cut, as the water was only six feet high against it, and the levee is twice that high. News from above report levees in a threatening condition.

An extensive fire, at least at present, is in the "Giovanni" Machine Works, the largest manufacturers of wooden machinery in Worcester, Mass. W. S. Godard is the general manager of the company, which makes fixtures for mills and is a large company. The loss will be fully $10,000. About 125 men are employed, but recently the force was cut down to forty. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have originated from the chimney.
